Rapid Reporting

Our FastTrack service ensures rapid reporting, enabling clinicians to make timely diagnoses and initiate treatments sooner, ultimately improving patient care.

Five reasons to use FastTrack.

Our FastTrack service is designed to address the pressing needs of NHS trusts facing increasing demands and staffing challenges. Our reporting service is specifically designed to support NHS trusts in navigating these complexities. By optimising the reporting process, we help radiology departments improve patient care and operational efficiency. Here are five key reasons why our FastTrack service can make a significant difference for your trust.

“It is so nice having a service we have full confidence in and not having to cancel patients’ appointments at short notice. It has made a real difference to our department.” NHS Client

Reduced Patient Backlog

Quick turnaround times for reports significantly decrease waiting times for diagnostic results, helping you manage patient flow and enhance overall hospital efficiency.

3

Cost-Effective Solutions

Our fast reporting service can lead to quicker patient discharges, freeing up hospital beds and reducing operational costs associated with extended patient stays.

4

Understaffed Teams

Our FastTrack service alleviates pressure on overworked radiology teams, providing essential support during peak times or staff shortages, which can boost staff morale and retention.

5

Regulatory Compliance

Reliable and timely reporting helps NHS trusts meet essential turnaround time targets, ensuring compliance with NHS England guidelines and maintaining high standards of patient care.
